MORNING STAR NOTES

Getting to know Ava

A personality and learning report for Ava's family

Born 2 December 2017, 2:20 pm
Ballarat, Victoria

Welcome

Ava arrived on an early summer afternoon in Ballarat, on 2 December 2017. This report looks at the sky at that moment to explore her personality, how she learns, how she makes friends, and what helps when feelings run high.

Ava's big three

SUN
Sagittarius
Who they are

MOON
Taurus
How they feel

RISING
Pisces
How they come across

Ava's chart at a glance

Placement	Sign	What it describes
Sun	Sagittarius	Core personality
Rising	Pisces	How Ava comes across at first
Moon	Taurus	Feelings and emotional needs
Mercury	Sagittarius	How Ava thinks and learns
Venus	Sagittarius	Friendships
Mars	Libra	Energy and handling disagreements
Saturn	Sagittarius	Where Ava needs structure

Ava’s chart leans strongly towards fire: warm, enthusiastic and keen to learn by doing.

Personality and temperament

Ava’s Sun is in Sagittarius, the sign of the explorer, and her Rising sign is Pisces, which shapes first impressions. Together they describe a child who may seem gentle or dreamy at first, with a curious, hopeful spirit underneath. Stories, imagination and a calm, kind start help her settle in.

Her Mars in Libra suggests Ava has the most energy when she is working alongside others. A partner or small group often helps her get going.

Mars also forms a sextile with Saturn, a flowing link between two planets, which suggests her energy is steady and she likes to finish what she starts.

Learning style

Mercury, the planet of thinking and learning, is also in Sagittarius. This points to a big-picture mind that is full of questions. Ava is likely to understand details best once she sees the big idea behind them.

The strongest link in Ava's chart is a conjunction between Mercury and Saturn. A conjunction is a blending aspect, where two planets work as one. Here, it adds a careful, thoughtful side: Ava likes to get things right, so extra time and clear steps help her feel confident.

Her Sun and Venus sit in the 9th house, which covers big ideas and wider learning. Ava may especially enjoy stories, art and learning about other places and cultures. Mercury also forms a flowing sextile with Mars, suggesting an energetic mind that enjoys a challenge.

Social and friendship style

With Venus in Sagittarius, Ava is likely to be friendly and open with everyone, and she enjoys fun, adventurous play. Her Pisces Rising means she may take a little while to find her place in a busy group.

Her Moon in Taurus suggests a steady, loyal friend who likes familiar company. Mars in Libra adds a wish for everyone to get along, so Ava may avoid arguments and not always say when something is wrong.

Emotional needs and calming strategies

Ava's Moon is in Taurus, the sign of comfort and calm. She is usually even-tempered and feels happiest with a steady routine. Changes go more smoothly with a little warning, and a comfortable, familiar space helps her settle when she is upset.

Saturn in Sagittarius suggests that explaining the reason behind a rule helps her accept it.

A note for you

Every child is more than their chart. Read this report alongside everything you already know about Ava, and keep what rings true. This report is for insight and enjoyment, and is not professional, medical or educational advice.

An editable copy of this page is attached as a Word file, so you can change anything that doesn't sound like Ava before printing.

Getting to know Ava

We're so glad Ava is in your class this year. Here are a few things that help her feel settled and do her best.

Personality

- Ava may seem gentle and quiet at first, but underneath she is curious, hopeful and full of ideas.
- A calm, kind start to the day helps her settle.
- She has the most energy when working alongside others, so partner tasks help her get started.

How Ava learns best

- Ava is full of questions and loves big ideas about how the world works.
- Explaining the big idea first helps the details make sense.
- She thinks carefully and likes to get things right, so extra time and clear steps help her feel confident.
- Stories, art and creative tasks help ideas stick.

With friends and in groups

- Ava is a friendly, open friend who enjoys active, outdoor games.
- She may take a little while to find her place in a busy group. A calm, kind friend nearby helps.
- She tends to avoid arguments and may not say when something is wrong, so a gentle check-in helps.

What helps when Ava is upset or overwhelmed

- Ava is usually calm and feels happiest with a steady routine.
- Changes go more smoothly with a little warning and time to adjust.
- A comfortable, familiar space helps her settle when she is upset.
- Explaining why a rule matters helps her follow it.

Anything else